4 HURT IN ACCIDENTS ON 67

Here and There

State Powerless to Call Special Vote for Kitchens

Governor Futrell Holds Contest Not Decided in Time—No Vacancy IS UP TO CONGRESS

Would Have to Unseat Parks, Whom Federal Chamber Has Accepted

MTGNOLIA, Ark.—Wade Kitchens, Magnolia lawyer, will ask the national House of Representatives to declare the seat now occupied by Tilman B. Parks vacant.

This announcement was made Sunday by Mr. Kitchens, in commenting on the refusal of Governor Futrell to call a special election in the Seventh Congressional District in the Seventh Congressional District in which Mr. Kitchens' name would be on the ballot as the Democratic nominee.

Formal charges will be filed in Congress by Mr. Kitchens, setting forth that Mr. Parks obtained the certificate of nomination fraudulently, the former said.

An election contest suit, instituted in Ashley Circuit Court following the Democratic run-off primary in August, resulted in a judgment declaring Mr. Kitchens entitled to the nomination, but before the trial was terminated the general election had been held in which Mr. Parks was the only candidate on ticket.

Refuses to Issue Call
Governor Futrell late Saturday declined to call a special election in the seventh congressional district at the request of Wade Kitchens, Magnolia attorney, who in January won his contest of the democratic nomination in Congress by reason of his action last November.

Governor Futrell termed "unfortunate" the fact that Kitchens' contest was not decided until three weeks after Congressmen Parks had been re-elected, and called attention to the situation as one warranting an earlier primary election to permit contest to be settled before the general election.

Mr. Kitchens was certified on the face of the runoff primary election last August as a democratic nominee, and was unopposed at the general election. "Congress sent Mr. Parks," said Governor Futrell's letter to Kitchens, "was duly sworn in, and is serving as has declared no vacancy, being no vacancy, I am without duty to call an election."

Kitchens petitioned the special election.

Crosnoe Sentence for Arson Upheld by Supreme Court

6-Year Conviction of Hope Man at Warren Sustained Monday

BOND ISSUE UPHOLD

1-3 Millions for State Hospital to Be Held by U. S.

LITTLE ROCK—(P)—The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday held valid a $1,327,000 bond issue to be sold to the federal government for funds with which to complete the new state hospital at Benton.

The court held that the bonds, although not issued prior to the adoption last November of Amendment 22 to the constitution, were a contractual obligation of the state, and therefore were not barred by the amendment.

The court affirmed United circuit court in rendering judgment against H. M. Bellotti, former guardian of Alfred Flenniken, for $5,429.84 for the guardian in succession, C. B. Harris. The court decreed that Bellotti, in settlement, was not entitled to $1,638.09 for the care of the ward, $2,385.94 for loans unauthorized by the probate court, and $600 for administering the estate.

Other cases included:
W. A. Hays vs. J. R. Hays, Clark circuit, affirmed (involving title to 50 acres of land).
Charlie Crosnoe vs. state, Bradley circuit, six-year sentence for arson, affirmed.

Pope Pius Prays for Death of War

General Pershing, Far Distant, Watches Troubled European Scene

VATICAN CITY, Rome, Italy—(P)—War, Pope Pius told 20 cardinals gathered for a secret consistory Monday, "would be so enormous a crime, so foolish a manifestation of fury, that we believe it is absolutely impossible."

"If, however, there is someone who wishes to commit this nefarious crime," then, the holy father said, he could do nothing else than pray to God to "destroy those peoples who desire war."

Pershing Disturbed
TUCSON, Ariz.—(P)—Threats of war and Germany's new aggressiveness have somewhat disturbed the tranquility of General John J. Pershing's winter beneath the Arizona sun.

The commander-in-chief of American fighting forces in the World War is keeping a wary eye on the present situation in Europe, while resting here and writing his memoirs.

Arkansas, Land of Today and Tomorrow, Says Editor White

Great Kansas Editor, "Sage of Emporia," Enthusiastic on Motor Trip Down Through the Mountains

LITTLE ROCK—A reporter interviewing an editor, a famous one, the late William Allen White, the Sage of Emporia—now, there's a situation, insurance company.

Hummm. What to ask him. He knows all the answers. This is an old story to him. Politics?

"What do you think of Huey Long's chances as a candidate for president?" "Good as anybody's, I guess."

No elaboration on that subject. Probably tired of politics. All right, leave it to him.

"What would you like to be interviewed about, Mr. White?" "Oh, anything you think would make good copy for your paper."

"I understand this is your first visit to Arkansas. Have you formed a definite impression of the state on such short notice?"

Ah! Interest in that subject. Enthusiasm, even.

"Got any copy paper?"

Supplied with paper, he produced a pencil stub different only in color from the reporter's stub, and began to write his own interview. . . . Nice going, thought the reporter.

This is what he wrote:

"Arkansas is the state of this generation and the next. The rest of this country has been pretty well devastated by the generations that are past. But here is the future."

Mrs. White and I drove down to meet the spring, to see iris, the dogwood, the wisteria, and the fruit blooms. But as we drove through the lovely land almost virgin in many of its great natural and commercial resources, gradually we began to realize that we were meeting more than the spring.

"We are looking at tomorrow in the

Circuit Court at Washington Opens

John Barrow Heads Grand Jury—Judge Bush Praises New State Police

The April term of Hempstead circuit court convened at Washington Monday.

After receiving instructions from Judge Dexter Bush, the grand jury went into session at 11 a. m. with John Barrow as foreman and E. D. Volvin as bailiff.

In his talk to the grand jury, Judge Bush praised the newly-created state police, and expressed the hope that this organization would be the death blow to violators of the liquor laws.

The balance of the morning and afternoon was expected to be taken up with setting of dates for civil and criminal trials.

The grand jury will probably make its report late Tuesday afternoon.

A land and seaplane base costing $500,000 will be constructed in Vancouver if present plans materialize.

Hope Woman Dies in Auto Accident

Alura Reeder, First Woman Telegrapher, Killed Near Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La.—(P)—Miss Alura Reeder, 64, of Hope, Ark., was instantly killed and four other persons were injured in a head-on collision of two automobiles on the Texas highway 12 miles west of here late Saturday.

The injured were: Mrs. B. N. Newcombe, 48, of Shreveport, driver of the car in which she and Miss Reeder were returning to Shreveport; and P. D. Bush of Marshall, Texas, driver of the other vehicle and his two passengers, Miss Tommy Sawyer, 21, of Shreveport and Weldon Hancock, 23, of Shreveport.

Miss Alura Reeder was a member of a pioneer Hempstead county family. She was one of the first women telegraph operators in Hope, having been connected with the Missouri Pacific system many years ago.

She was returned here for burial.

Government Withdraws Lumber Code Test Case From Supreme Court

F. D. GOES TO WORK

Supreme Court Invalidates Arkansas District Tax Relief Law

WASHINGTON—(P)—House Democratic leaders Monday resorted to the gag rule in an attempt to head the advice of President Roosevelt and send the relief bill back to conference with the senate.

NRA Test Abandoned
WASHINGTON—(P)—The Department of Justice Monday formally asked the United States Supreme Court to dismiss the case against W. E. Belcher, of Alabama, which had been expected to test the constitutionality of the NRA.

The Lumber Code Authority announced it would oppose the government's request for dismissal, but an immediate doubt arose as to whether the court would recognize the authority as having sufficient interest in the case to give it standing before the court.

President Goes to Work

MIAMI, Fla.—(P)—Tanned by Southern sunshine and breezes, President Roosevelt went to work Monday on an accumulation of mail and some business arriving here from Washington.

Two naval seaplanes took the mail to the president.

Arkansas Law Invalid

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Arkansas law extending from two to four years the time within which owners could redeem property sold for delinquent assessments to meet obligations on bonds issued by improvement districts was declared invalid Monday by the United States Supreme Court.

Await F. D.'s Wishes

WASHINGTON—(P)—Congress awaited Sunday definite word from President Roosevelt on what he wants done to untangle the latest snarl over the $4,880,000 relief bill.

Democratic leaders said that Mr. Roosevelt opposes the controversial senate amendment requiring that 33 1-3 per cent of advances on non-federal projects be spent for direct labor. This was written in during the conference on the measure.

But information as to whether he would accept the provision to get the long delayed measure through was lacking and leaders said they wanted

New Trial Awarded Scottsboro Negroes

WASHINGTON—(P)—A new trial was ordered by the United States Supreme Court Monday in the case of death sentences imposed on Clarence Norris and Haywood Patterson, negroes convicted of assaulting a white woman near Scottsboro, Ala.

The negroes contended they were deprived of constitutional rights because they were indicted by a grand jury and found guilty by a trial jury from which members of their race had been systematically excluded.

Ouachita Student Fatally Stricken

James Queen, 19, Dies of Heart Attack During Student Frolic

ARKADELPHIA, Ark.—(P)—"Ducked" in the Ouachita river in the annual April Fool's day custom of freshmen to immerse upper classmen, James Queen, 19, sophomore at Ouachita college, died of what physicians believed to have been a heart attack Monday.

The youth, son of the Rev. J. F. Queen, pastor of First Baptist church of Prescott, had just finished his luncheon when some freshmen spied him and another upper classman who had not been taken to the river.

Queen was taken along to the stream, and during the scuffle was pulled into the water.

After swimming to the bank, Queen collapsed. He was pronounced dead when taken to a hospital.

James Queen was a cousin of Bernard O'Steen of Hope, and was well known here.

Funeral services, although not definitely announced Monday, are expected to be held at Prescott Tuesday.

Talks on Study of Cave Life of Man

Dr. S. C. Dillinger, U. of A., Speaks to Hope High School Students

Dr. S. C. Dillinger, professor of anthropology, University of Arkansas, addressed the student body of Hope High School Monday afternoon on his explorations pertaining to the science of mankind.

Dr. Dillinger has explored many caves in northern and western Arkansas, his discoveries attracting attention all over the United States.

He is a member of the National Research Council, and curator of the museum at the University of Arkansas.

While in Hope he inspected many historic relics owned by H. J. Lemley and Dr. P. B. Carrigan.

Negroes' Wagon, Unlighted, Is Run Down by a Truck

Laundry Machine Kills Mule, Destroys Wagon, Injures Negroes

PARK NEAR VIADUCT

Glen Burns Smashed Up Because Cars Are Parked on Viaduct Approach

Automobile accidents on Highway 67 east and west of Hope Saturday afternoon and night injured four persons, killed a mule, smashed a wagon to splinters, wrecked a light delivery truck, and tore up a Chevrolet coupe.

The first accident occurred at the Missouri Pacific viaduct, mile and a half north of Hope. A small coupe driven by Glen Burns crashed into a car parked on the viaduct approach.

It was reported that a second car was also parked on the viaduct, partly blocking the road. Burns' car was badly damaged. None of the occupants of the cars was injured.

Highway signs prohibit parking of cars on the viaduct.

The second accident occurred early Saturday night on the Hope-Fulton road, 12 miles west of Hope.

A Crow Laundry truck, of Texarkana, driven by Vernon Buchanan, crashed into the side-rear of an unlighted wagon loaded with negroes.

Buchanan sustained an injured shoulder and was bruised about the body. Three negroes were knocked to the pavement and slightly injured. They were treated at Josephine hospital.

A mule hitched to the wagon was killed. The wagon was smashed.

Buchanan, the truck driver, said that he was enroute to Hope. The wagon was also wrecked toward Hope. Lights from an approaching automobile partly blinded Buchanan, making visibility of the unlighted wagon just ahead very poor, he said.

The radiator, fenders, lights and glass of the truck were smashed and broken.

Fresh Peas for Table April 1st

Oats Start Heading, and Blooms Are on the Blackberry

Among early vegetation brought to Hope Monday were several stalks of oats which had started heading, and a blackberry bush with an array of blooms. They were displayed here by Wylie Ilen, farmer living south of Hope.

John McClanahan was showing in Hope Monday new English peas which he is enjoying on the family table.

Today's News in Pictures--and We Mean TODAY'S!

Dictators Say a Mouthful--In Bread Line

Prince of Wales Weds Princess "X"

Political Foes? Nonsense! All Is Harmony

By pony express, hitch-hiker and carrier pigeon, Hope Star has just received pictorial proof of several astonishing new developments in various parts of the world today. Overnight, dictatorships have crashed, Cupid has played David to bachelorhood's Goliath, and the bitterest political picture at left, snapped early this morning by Hope Star's official bread line photographer, shows the present plight of the former three powerful dictators of Europe, summarily ousted by their parties when they were discovered in a hotel room playing a game called "Guns, Guns--Who's Got the Munitions Contract?" Der ex-Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler, dejection in every line of his face, is gratefully receiving a handout. Italy's Benito Mussolini pushes in for his turn, hoping vainly that there'll be spaghetti. Russia's Joseph Stalin, third in line, smiles sardonically at the turn of events, and has just coined a little wisecrack: "Let them eat crusts!" The scene shifts to London in a ring on the finger of his bride. Note that she is masked. This precaution was considered necessary to hide her identity from several thousand members of the Girls Who Have Dined With the Prince of Wales Association, had reached the proportions of a riot. At right is the first picture of the new Harmony Three formed by Father Coughlin, Senator Long and General

Johnson. After weeks a bitter wrangling about financial problems they have accepted a vaudeville contract which solves, for them personally, at least, all further worries about money. They were snapped during a rehearsal of their opening number, which begins like this: "Oh, we're Charley and Huey and Hugh!" "We're pals; no Huey--that's true!" "The state of nation--depression--inflation" "No longer makes each of us blue--hey hey!" "For we're Charley and Huey and Hugh!"

Note how enthusiastically the General, who sings bass, is coming in on the last note. Each member of the trio also does a specialty turn. Father Coughlin sings: "Love Thy Neighbor." Senator Long performs a political contortion by straddling a fence, keeping an ear to the ground, and playing "Every Man a King" on the big bassoon--all at the same time. General Johnson does an interpretive dance, "The Dying Eagle," in the manner of Mary Wingman.

Editor's Note: It has just been brought to our attention that this is All Fools' Day. (April 1), so maybe you shouldn't be too certain that the camera never lies.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Real Trouble May Be Cause of Neurosis.

Neurotics have been said to live in a dreamlike twilight of ill health, drifting from doctor to doctor, or from one fake kind of treatment to another, and finding it impossible to receive freedom from their worries as to their health and their illness.

However, there is beginning to be some order in the chaos and confusion which have existed in the past, real disturbances.

Every neurotic case ought to be studied carefully for the presence of some actual physical disturbance. Sometimes a hidden infection in the sinuses, or in the lungs, or an undetected early disturbance of the nervous system, may be responsible for a disease which seems to lie wholly in the mind.

Other physical conditions which may seem to be neurotic in their earliest stages are inflammations of the brain, tuberculosis, brain tumors, occasionally disturbances of digestion, and the various forms of anemia.

There are other forms of physical disturbances in which great weakness is a significant symptom, associated with an amount of pain which ordinarily would be negligible, but which becomes exceedingly prominent because of the neurotic type of mind.

Disturbances of the glands of internal secretion, particularly failure of the adrenal glands to act efficiently, may be responsible for many cases of this character.

Then there are cases of neurosis which are the result of wrong conditions in the home during childhood, and of faulty education. As the individual grows older, conditions of life change and it may be necessary to break up lifelong habits. Under such circumstances, the person who has seemed to be quite normal may become neurotic.

Some forms of nervous disturbances are associated with improper adjustment between the nervous system in marriage, with occupations in which there are undue amounts of fatigue, monotony, and strain and there are also those forms of occupational neuroses in which the individual develops the idea of oppression, exploitation, or persecution by those in positions of power.

A recent study of true neurotics lists those who show symptoms of distortion of their ordinary instincts and emotions. These distortions are reclassified into several types.

There is the neurotic who is submissive, resigned, and placid because he finds the world too hard a place to live in and who desires security, refuge, and lack of responsibility without loss of respect.

These invalids frequently develop disturbances of digestion and of the bowels which give them a quite comfortable or mild invalidism and thereby a certain amount of freedom from responsibility and struggle with the world.

Another type is the invalid who is driving and ostentatious because he has found that through illness he may maintain a sort of tyranny and pre-eminence in the household.

Another submissive type is the one who copies the symptoms of another person whom he loves or fears. These symptoms are most related to swallowing and digestion.

Finally there is the invalid whose neurosis arises from conflicts which he is unable to win. He, therefore, solves his difficulties by retreat into a safe comfortable, and respectable illness.

In this type of nervousness there is a great deal of restlessness, alternating depression, and elation, and a considerable amount of selfishness and vanity.

A BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON
If Sea Yarn Puzzle You, Read This Book—Here's an ABC Account of Ships and Their Ways

This reviewer once persuaded a gentleman to read Dana's great sea classic, "Two Years Before the Mast." The gentleman read it, said he liked it fine—and asked where could he find a book which would explain all the nautical terminology, manners, and maneuvers with which the text was filled.

Your reviewer was stumped. He knew of no such book. Writers of sea stories assume that the reader already knows about these things. If the reader doesn't he's just out of luck.

Now, however, comes the answer to prayer—"Sea Lanes," by Capt. Jonas Pendlebury and Martin D. Stevens. It is just the book a great many of us have been looking for all these years.

These authors have the good sense to assume that the ordinary reader knows nothing whatever of the sea, so they explain everything. They initiate you into the mysteries of tacking, wearing ship, reefing and furling; they explain such phrases as "down helm" and "close-hauled"; they tell what futtock shrouds are, and clewlines, and jib down-hauls, and so on; they tell how ships are navigated, how a skipper "shoots the sun" to get his position—in a word, they clear up all those little puzzles that usually go entirely unexplained.

In addition, they give an excellent history of travel by sea, tell how ancient and modern ships were developed and operated and, all in all, present a mine of highly interesting information in a very readable style.

Published by Minton, Balch and Co., the book sells for $3.75.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Pat May Cure Boy of Mopey Habits.

Dear Mrs. Barton: Our boy of eleven is very lazy. He has had his tonsils and adenoids out, but still he is as "doless" as an old man. The doctor said he has no thyroid trouble, but if he is not sick what makes him behave?

He eats pretty well, but he won't drink milk as the doctor ordered. He goes to bed at nine. He won't study, and he is getting so careless about himself I am ashamed of him. I always heard that they picked up about this age, but he gets worse and worse. He used to be a happy little fellow and now he is so cross and disobedient he does not seem like our boy at all. He has older friends. Would it be that? What can I do to get him stirred up and back to his sense of duty?

Dear Writer: I think he is just tired of his sense of duty. Life turns drab and uninteresting for children at times as well as the rest of us. They get in a rut, and the world turns sour.

Besides it is the end of winter, and who isn't likely to have carbon-monoxide blues? In his case he probably has geography jitters and arithmetic aches too.

A good dose of castor oil, or sulphur and molasses, or bone-set tea or sassafras might dispel his green and yellow melancholy and bind up the raveled sleeve of care and even help to keep his cuffs clean. But I think he is just tucked out spiritually. The same old thing in the same old way, day in and out. He isn't even very important with those bigger fellows who have started to hang around soda fountains after school. Yes, he needs young friends.

Turn Job Over to Father

But here you cease to be useful except as a suggester. The suggester should be this young man's daddy. Get that sport page before he can bury his nose in it and say to him, "Horace, my love, Jimmy needs a friend and from now on it has to be you. My apron strings are too thin."

"He has let go and now he's not got a thing to hang onto but himself. He is too little and he is lonely. I have taken him as far as I can except for gargling and wheat cakes, so now it is your turn."

Horace will make a face and say, "What can I do? I do make him snap out of it, don't I? I licked him day before yesterday and I made him clean the mud off the porch last night. Here, give me that paper." If Horace does not say this he is sick. All dads say it.

Don't Give Up the Fight

But stick to your story, lady. You are fighting for a lonely boy and perhaps a discouraged, rather confused one, past babyhood, soon past boyhood, perhaps nervous, skinny and a peculiar jumble of angles.

"You, Horace," you continue, "are going to begin to tell him all about those baseball heroes you used to know, and you are going to teach him how to hold and play with him. You are going to get some boards and show him how to make things. You take him fishing and walking and let him see that you care a little about where he stays besides walking the chalk mark.

"Just wait another year, my good man, and it will be too late. If you don't get him now and shine his life up a bit, don't expect him to meet you half way later. Tell him about every interesting thing you know. When he sees you care about him he will start to care about himself. Women can't do it all. That is what fathers are for."

Get your body in healthy, normal condition is the first step toward complexion beauty, of course. You can't have clear skin if you are always tired from lack of sleep or if your digestion is faulty. Do all you possibly can to get in excellent physical shape and then supplement your health routines with the right home beauty treatments.

If you apply some kind of mask once a week from now until Easter, the chances are your skin will be as fresh and attractive as your new spring bonnet. Choose a good one, made by a reliable firm, or, if you like, use the plain, old-fashioned egg mask.

If your skin has a tendency toward dryness, always smooth on tissue cream after you have removed a mask. Pat it in for a few seconds, remove and you're ready for foundation lotion and makeup.

In addition, use your skin tonic or mild astringent twice a day. You'll find that your lotion is much more effective and certainly more soothing to the nerves if you use it very cold. Keep it in the icebox or set it in a bowl of cracked ice before you start to pat it on.

If you have clogged pores, use plenty

After which a pot luck luncheon was served cafeteria style in the Methodist church.

The afternoon meeting was opened by singing "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." Following this, five members of the Bright Star home demonstration club gave a playlet entitled "Idle Gossip." Miss Possey then showed the importance of improving the appearance of the outside of the home as much as the inside. She discussed the state landscaping program, and then she emphasized the importance of co-operating with the agents in the county and told them that this could be done by putting into practice, the use of the demonstrations, in their homes that they had received at the club meetings. This concluded the program.

The business of the council was then taken up. Mrs. J. E. McWilliams called the roll, with 122 members responding from 13 clubs.

The presidents of the clubs gave some very good reports on the work of the club members for the past three months.

Miss Griffin announced the District Landscaping school which will be held in Hot Springs, April 4. She urged as many of the club women to attend as could.

Ozan-St. Paul and Guernsey-Bright Star clubs asked for the council meeting for June. A vote was taken by the council and it was decided to meet with Guernsey with Bright Star as co-hosts. Votes of thanks were given to Columbus and Liberty for their gracious hospitality. The council then adjourned to meet in June.

Approval of the Taylor highway bill left 23 bills on the governor's desk awaiting action or expiration of the 20 days which will make them law without executive approval.

Among them are measures relating to the State Welfare Commission and the old age pension bill.

H. B. 432 by Woolsey, Raney and others, to provide for payment of pensions up to $1 per day to all persons over 65 who do not have an income equivalent to that amount.

H. B. 518 by Raney to create a Welfare Commission fund and appropriating money for old age pensions and relief of unemployables.

S. E. 540 by the Budget Committee, appropriating $17,554 for support of the Public Welfare Commission until June 30.

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — A weak Liverpool market Monday served to unsettle the local cotton exchange and after opening from three to nine points lower futures sold off in the early trading until losses of 18 to 27 points had been registered.

May opened at 10.95 and dropped to 10.81 and July after selling nine points lower at the first call touched 10.95 before profit taking and short covering checked the decline.

October hit 10.33 and rallied to 10.41 and December after dropping to 10.29 was back to 10.47 in the first hour.

Liverpool cables reported a very heavy market.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Cotton futures opened barely steady, three to nine points decline with lower Liverpool cables partly offset by trade and foreign buying. May 10.95; July 11.02; January 10.58; March 10.59.

Columbus Host to County Club Group

Hempstead Demonstration Club Council Attended by 122

The Hempstead county council of home demonstration clubs met at the Presbyterian church in Columbus, Friday, with Columbus home demonstration club as co-hosts. The meeting was opened at 10 o'clock by the president, Mrs. C. R. White. The meeting was opened by singing "Arkansas," which was led by Mrs. Wilbur Jones of Ozan.

Mrs. Chess Stuart welcomed the council to Columbus in behalf of the two home demonstration clubs. The response was given by Mrs. Melsom Frazier of Washington. Mrs. W. C. Simms of Columbus gave devotion, after which Miss Marge Polk, home demonstration agent of Sevier county, talked on artcraft in the home. She showed different types of woven rugs and rugs made from crocheted socks. She also exhibited different types of trays that the women could make from reed or honey suckle vine. Then she started her demonstration of rebotomizing a chair, using binders cord, with the help of some of the club women the chair was finished during the day. It is the same type of bottom that one finds in the ladder back chairs. At this point in the demonstration Miss Ella Pender, district home demonstration agent, exhibited hooked and braided mats. She gave the evolution of mats which had been done by the club women over a period of a number of years. Much progress had been made during that time.

C. S. Morrow, assistant county agent, gave a helpful talk to the women on garden and plant disease and control.

My mother and father before cleansing cream and then gently press out the impurities after you have removed the cream. Never pinch or bruise the skin and be sure to put an antiseptic on the places you have squeezed.

NEXT: Why spring beauty routines are important.

After which a pot luck luncheon was served cafeteria style in the Methodist church.

The afternoon meeting was opened by singing "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." Following this, five members of the Bright Star home demonstration club gave a playlet entitled "Idle Gossip." Miss Possey then showed the importance of improving the appearance of the outside of the home as much as the inside. She discussed the state landscaping program, and then she emphasized the importance of co-operating with the agents in the county and told them that this could be done by putting into practice, the use of the demonstrations, in their homes that they had received at the club meetings. This concluded the program.

The business of the council was then taken up. Mrs. J. E. McWilliams called the roll, with 122 members responding from 13 clubs.

The presidents of the clubs gave some very good reports on the work of the club members for the past three months.

Miss Griffin announced the District Landscaping school which will be held in Hot Springs, April 4. She urged as many of the club women to attend as could.

Ozan-St. Paul and Guernsey-Bright Star clubs asked for the council meeting for June. A vote was taken by the council and it was decided to meet with Guernsey with Bright Star as co-hosts. Votes of thanks were given to Columbus and Liberty for their gracious hospitality. The council then adjourned to meet in June.

Approval of the Taylor highway bill left 23 bills on the governor's desk awaiting action or expiration of the 20 days which will make them law without executive approval.

Among them are measures relating to the State Welfare Commission and the old age pension bill.

H. B. 432 by Woolsey, Raney and others, to provide for payment of pensions up to $1 per day to all persons over 65 who do not have an income equivalent to that amount.

H. B. 518 by Raney to create a Welfare Commission fund and appropriating money for old age pensions and relief of unemployables.

S. E. 540 by the Budget Committee, appropriating $17,554 for support of the Public Welfare Commission until June 30.

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — A weak Liverpool market Monday served to unsettle the local cotton exchange and after opening from three to nine points lower futures sold off in the early trading until losses of 18 to 27 points had been registered.

May opened at 10.95 and dropped to 10.81 and July after selling nine points lower at the first call touched 10.95 before profit taking and short covering checked the decline.

October hit 10.33 and rallied to 10.41 and December after dropping to 10.29 was back to 10.47 in the first hour.

Liverpool cables reported a very heavy market.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Cotton futures opened barely steady, three to nine points decline with lower Liverpool cables partly offset by trade and foreign buying. May 10.95; July 11.02; January 10.58; March 10.59.

Highway Body Is Raised to Seven

Governor Leaves Old-Age Pension Bill Unsigned Over Week-End

LITTLE ROCK—Governor Futrell late Saturday signed Senate Bill 137 by Taylor increasing the membership of the State Highway Commission to seven, one from each congressional district, and appointed the following new members:

E. C. Porter, Clarksville, former Johnson county judge, Fifth district.
Dr. F. W. Cox, Pocahontas, retired physician and cotton buyer, Second district.

A. L. Smith, Sileam Springs, lawyer and business man, Third district.
The four present commissioners were reappointed. They are:

Dave Block, Wynne, chairman, First district.
Ben B. Johnston, Fort Smith, Fourth district.
L. A. Black, DeWitt, Sixth district.
C. H. Murphy, El Dorado, Seventh district.

J. S. Cargile of Arkadelphia, who served as chairman of the commission from the time he was appointed two years ago by Governor Futrell, resigned after the legislature passed two bills providing for a member from each congressional district. He and Mr. Murphy were from the same district.

Approval of the Taylor highway bill left 23 bills on the governor's desk awaiting action or expiration of the 20 days which will make them law without executive approval.

Among them are measures relating to the State Welfare Commission and the old age pension bill.

God Abides In a Garden

God abides in a garden
When the evening shadows fall,
When the night winds flutters fragrant wings
O'er a flowery wall.
God abides in a garden
When the dawn breaks pearly pink,
And the sun's first rays encircle the earth
With gold in a glittering link.
God abides in a garden
Where the soft winds whisper low,
Down the velvet paths by the hilly-
hocks
Where the purple violets grow.

Here and There

to the disgust of this writer.

Readers of The Star will recollect our frequent references to the cases of Senator-Elect Vane of Pennsylvania and Senator-Elect Smith of Illinois, both of whom had swum through an ocean of fraud in the primary and general elections, only to be denied their seats in congress.

Congress set itself up to be the moral judge of sovereign states—notwithstanding the fact that our country is supposed to be a union of commonwealths each of whom elects its delegates to the federal congress.

It is absurd to suppose that public morality is any higher in a superior division of government, than in an inferior one, or that the people of one section of America are more politically honest than the people of another section.

But that is the very proposition congress is attempting to put upon us when it holds that it is the final judge over all its members.

X X X

It is probable, however, that in this particular case the congress will oust Mr. Parks and put Mr. Kitchens in the Seventh district seat.

The Illinois and Pennsylvania cases were not a battle over elections figures. There was no question but that Mr. Smith and Mr. Vane were elected. The question was: Where did they get the money that assured their election?

And the senate held they were unfit to be public servants.

The congress as a general rule, however, follows the election returns; and where a contest has been pushed, and the results overturned, the congress usually takes action—when it gets around to it.

And yet, in view of what it did in the Illinois and Pennsylvania cases, congress could with perfect ease tell Mr. Kitchens it didn't care what an Arkansas circuit court declared—Mr. Parks has the seat, and can hold it.

The congress could do that—but it probably won't.

And yet the spectacle of the duly-elected representative of one section of the nation sitting in judgment upon an elected representative of another section is distasteful to the American people. We do not allow politicians to sit in judgment on themselves. The people pass on politicians—and what the voters of the Seventh Arkansas district have said must always be in the sight of our ancient laws and precedents the final judgment.

Tornadoes Mark Close of March

Spring ushered in by the Proverbial Roaring Weather Lion

By the Associated Press
Spring tornadoes and winter blasts were grim reminders Monday that March had bowed off the year's calendar with a roar.

Freakish winds and tornadoes took six lives and caused considerable property damage in Mississippi and Texas; winter gripped the northern Rocky Mountain section and sent cold blasts through the Middle West; bathed flocks to Southern beaches, while out in the dust belt farmers and ranchers hoped for rain but saw only familiar clouds of silt and sand.

direct word from the president before taking action. An expression of Mr. Roosevelt's opinion, Speaker Byrnes said, was expected before house Democratic leaders meet Monday to determine what course to pursue.

"It is known," Speaker Byrnes said, "that the president is opposed to the wage amendment and the separate amendment requiring senate confirmation of new officials. House conferees are willing to recede on these amendments and I am sure the House also is willing. Therefore, the matter rests entirely with the senate."

The senate conferees, headed by Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, who is opposed to the bill, were said by an administration senate leader to be unwilling to yield.

On the other hand, this spokesman, who declined to be quoted, said, a majority of senate sentiment was opposed to retention of the wage amendment because it would "cause trouble in making loans to political subdivisions for work relief projects."

Chairman Buchanan, Democrat, Texas, of the house appropriations committee, weary of the dispute, said "We are going to do something Monday; we are going to dispose of the bill, one way or another."

On the senate side, the administration strategists discussed a plan to knock out the wage amendment, inserted by the senate conferees, on a point of order, should the house adopt the conference report. Another plan considered was to have the house and senate adopt the conference report and then pass a special resolution kicking out the wage provision.

Home Clubs

Guernsey

The Guernsey Home Demonstration club met at the high school auditorium March 25, with 14 old members and one new member present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. D. J. Rowe. The club then sang the February song.

Miss Griffin gave a very interesting talk. We made plans to go to Columbus to the county council on Friday, March 29.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Thomas, April 22. The demonstration will be on house dresses.

tion on the ground that the late Circuit Judge Patrick Henry, in giving him a decree showing his nomination by reason of fraud in the primary, had declared a vacancy existed in the office.

"The primary does not elect an officer, but selects a candidate of the party to run for office," said Governor Futrell. "Under the decisions of the court, Mr. Kitchens was that selection. On the face of returns, Mr. Parks was certified as the nominee. In the election, Mr. Parks was the only candidate and was elected. This election is not contested. If the general election were yet to be held, Mr. Kitchens as the nominee would be elected congressman. The delay in the decision of this matter until after the general election is the unfortunate circumstance in the matter."

Up to Congress
After reciting provisions of the United States Constitution which give congress the authority to seat or unseat members, Governor Futrell added:

"Congressman may be unseated for any cause deemed sufficient by congress. Both senators and representatives have been unseated on account of fraud in their own elections. These elections, however, were for the office, and not for the nomination, if I am correctly advised, I do not doubt the power of congress to unseat a man for fraud and corruption in a primary election, but until it has done so, there is no vacancy. I have no right to exercise the powers granted by the United States Constitution until a vacancy has been declared by congress."

"The state is without authority to declare a vacancy, and has not attempted to do so, all the courts have done is to declare that Mr. Kitchens was the rightful nominee of the democratic party. This was not done in time for him to be certified before the election in November. The circumstances of this case are a forcible reminder that our primary election should be held at such time so as to enable the court to determine who is the nominee before the general election."

"Congress has passed laws providing for contests of a seat in congress. This legislation, of course, is exclusive, and the contest of the office of congressman can be had in no other way."

Alford Is Named Revenue Attorney

Former Local Prosecutor to Handle Tax Collection Cases

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—State Revenue Commissioner Earl R. Wiseman Saturday announced the appointment of Millard Alford, former prosecuting attorney of Texarkana, as special full time attorney for the revenue department.

The appointment was made under a 1935 act which authorized the department which now collects in excess of $10,000,000 in taxes annually, to employ a full time attorney who would attend to the many duties in connection with collections.

There was an appropriation of $5,000 for the salary and expenses of the special attorney.

Wiseman's department has grown to immense proportions due to added tax collection duties.

The recent general assembly placed under the department the duties of collecting taxes and administering regulations under the Thorn liquor control act, the racing act, and the sales tax act which goes into effect May 1.

These additional sources of revenue are estimated to yield about $5,000,000 a year in addition to those the department already is collecting.
